

GIVING GUIDE

TAX-EXEMPT ORGANIZATIONS IN DOOR COUNTY

Door County is a special place. There is a spirit that keeps us here — or draws us back each year. So it's no wonder that Door County is also home to many people who are working hard to sustain our quality of life.

There are more than 350 charities, associations, service clubs and other citizen groups serving our community! In an effort to help connect people who care with causes that matter, the Door County Community Foundation has compiled this list of tax-exempt organizations that are based in Door County. The most up-to-date list is available at the Community Foundation's website, doorcountycommunityfoundation.org.

The list was compiled through a good-faith search of tax returns filed with the Internal Revenue Service and a review of other publicly available documents. Of course, given the difficulty of maintaining such a comprehensive database, it is inevitable that there will be the occasional oversight. If you discover one, please accept our sincerest apologies and send additions and corrections to webmaster@givedoorcounty.org.

TAX-EXEMPT CLASSIFICATION

Although there are many Door County organizations that are "tax-exempt" under section 501(c) of the Internal Revenue Code, not all of them are considered charitable by the IRS.

Generally speaking, a contribution to an organization classified as a 501(c)(3) public charity earns the maximum tax deduction allowed by law. The tax deductibility to other types of 501(c) organizations varies depending on a number of factors. Please contact the organizations directly to confirm their tax status and the deductibility of any gift you may choose to make.

Visit the IRS website at irs.gov to see a complete explanation of the different types of exempt organizations.

GUIDE TO CHARITABLE FUNDS

at the Door County Community Foundation

The mission of the Door County Community Foundation is to inspire people to give back to sustain and advance the community we love. We do that by serving as a conduit for giving. We're a charity whose purpose is to make giving simpler, easier, and more tax efficient so you can be as generous as possible to the charities and causes you care about.

We've published this Guide to Charitable Funds as a resource to help you with your giving. For a more complete listing of the nearly 400 non-profit and civic groups in Door County, visit us online at www.GiveDoorCounty.org – or just give us a call at (920) 746-1786.

Help us inspire people to give back to sustain and advance the community we love.
